THE VIRAL CONTENT HOOKS WORKBOOK

Hook her.
Hold her.
Hear from her.

550+ scroll stopping hooks, sorted by niche and format, so you never stare at a blank screen wondering what to post again.

BY KRISTIE MORGAN · THE NETWORK MARKETING MENTOR

no blank screens required.

Hey lovely, let's stop the scroll.

A hook has one job: make the right woman stop long enough to lean in. Not everyone. Her. Inside this workbook are 571 hooks, sorted by who you're talking to and how you want to film it. Steal them, tweak them, make them sound like you.

01

Pick your person

Start in Part 01 and find the niche you serve. Mums, nurses, corporate women, over 50s. Talk to one woman, not everyone.

02

Pick a format

Parts 02 to 05 give you the formats that keep working. Bold statements, POVs, fill in the blanks and the formats that build trust.

03

Film it simple

5 to 10 seconds of lifestyle B roll with the full hook on screen. Coffee, school run, walking, laptop. Done.

04

Caption + one CTA

Your caption connects where she is now to what's possible. End with one clear call to action from Part 04.

THE TRUTH NOBODY TELLS YOU

Hooks get attention. Conversations get sales. Use these to start the conversation, then go have it.

☐ Tick the box when you've used a hook · ____ fill in the blank · pink brackets = swap in your own detail

BEFORE YOU START

One hook.
Three ways to post it.

These hooks aren't written for the women who already follow you. They're written to stop a stranger mid scroll and make her think, "wait, that's me." That's how new people find your page. Here's how to use every single one.

1. B roll reel

Film 5 to 10 seconds of your normal life. Coffee, school drop off, a walk, your laptop on the kitchen bench. Put the hook on screen and let your caption do the talking. No talking to camera needed.

2. Carousel

Make the hook your first slide, then deliver on the promise in slides 2 to 6. Carousels get saved and shared, and every share puts you in front of someone new.

3. Trial reel

Post it as a trial reel and Instagram shows it to people who don't follow you yet. It's the easiest way to test a hook on brand new eyes. When one takes off, share it to your main grid.

WHY THIS MATTERS

Your current followers already love you. They can't grow your account on their own. New eyes can, and new eyes turn into new conversations.

Same hook, three posts.
Your new people find you.
